A workshop with Kay Xander Mellish

Kay Xander Mellish is the author of “How to Live in Denmark” and “How to Work in Denmark” and the voice behind the “How to Live in Denmark” podcast.

Join her for the “How to Live in Denmark” workshop in understanding Danish culture. What are the unwritten social rules for living in Denmark? What do Danes expect when it comes to making friends, giving gifts, and dining out together? We’ll look at how the Danish system – high wages and high taxes – affects daily life in everything from how you clean your house to how much time you spend with your children. And we’ll address topics as large as how Danes perceive trust and as small as which color usually means “discount” in Denmark.

You will also have a chance to discuss specific challenges you’re facing in Denmark and get insights from Kay and your fellow course attendees.

Free workshop

Coffee, water and sandwich included.
No-show fee: 100,- DKK

Sign up by sending an email to britc@vejle.dk with full name, phone number and email. The workshop is open for 25 participants – register now to secure your seat.
